

DEED

I, hereby

relinquish my SOUL

(my incorporeal essence)

to the holder of this deed,

to be collected after my death.

- §1. I retain full possession of my soul as long as I am alive, no matter however so slightly.
- §2. This deed does not affect any copyright, immaterial, or other earthly rights, recognized by human courts, before or after my death.
- §3. I take no responsibility about whether my soul does or does not exist. I am not liable in the case there is nothing to collect.
- §4. Similarly, I acknowledge that in exchange for signing this deed I might or might not receive immeasurable earthly riches, debauchery, and whatever I desire.
(But it could happen!)
